1857 Signature Cocktail

The inspiration for this cocktail goes back to 1857 when the St James Club opened its doors for the first time. The English aristocrat Earl Granville and Marchese d’Azeglio, a Sardinian minister, decided to found a new club intended as a London base for travelling diplomats. Forward to the 21st century and this sophisticated yet approachable cocktail will allow you to travel around the world with its ingredients from the main continents.

City of London gin (Europe)
Guanabana liqueur (America)
Pineapple-lime juices (Africa)
